Re: University of Leeds recognition of the International Arab Baccalaureate

I am very pleased to confirm that the University of Leeds will consider applications from students presenting the International Arab Baccalaureate for entry to undergraduate degree programmes with immediate effect.

A general comparison of the required grades to meet the A Level equivalent is given below, however, please note that some programmes will require grades in particular subjects and candidates are encouraged to check with admissions teams for specific requirements.

Course information and contact details for individual schools can be found at <https://courses.leeds.ac.uk/>

A*AA	96%	English must be met via an additional acceptable English Language qualification such as IELTS
AAA	93%
AAB	90%
ABB	87%
BBB	84%

Applications will of course undergo a full assessment via the decision making criteria set by individual schools before an offer can be made. Acceptance of the IAB will be reviewed periodically in line with University admissions guidelines.

The University of Leeds offers over 500 undergraduate programmes and has a strong reputation in the Middle East. We are excited to be able to add this qualification to our portfolio of acceptable qualifications.

Should you require any further information, please don't hesitate to contact me at h.e.middleton@leeds.ac.uk

Yours sincerely,

Helen Middleton
